

Aimee, social worker transcript.

[Text on screen: Aimee, social worker]

[Aimee is stood inside talking to the camera with atmospheric uplifting music in the background]

So, I work with children and young people in County Durham who have typically more significant disabilities requiring a lot of support from adults around them to keep them safe.

Personal care skills for example, or overall independence skills.

Part of my role as well is to really promote the voice of the child and help them develop their skills in communication. To some people it might not seem much but for that young person to be able to say "I want a bag of crisps" or "I want a drink of pop" for them to be able to do that is absolutely amazing. It's really, really heart-warming. It's these little things which is just absolutely fantastic.

So, I absolutely love my job. [Giggles]

Love it. [Laughter]

[Text on screen: Black background with logo for Department for Education in the middle of the screen]