We also got a bath, literally got a bath. Two minutes. They used to rig this tent up and they used to rig pipes across and they had an eighty gallon drum of water off and there was a pump on it and there was maybes eight at a time or ten at a time, say, for instance. And they used to make you undress first. You used to undress first and you used to gan and take your position underneath the shower and they used to say "Right", and they'd start pumping, and you would get your soap and you would rub your soap in like that. "Half a minute" and then "A minute. Right, sluice it off", and two minutes we were in and that was it. If you didn't get the soap off you had to dry it on you like.
